

SUSPECT PRISONER OF MANY OTHER MURDERS

MRS. A. D. ANDERSON, who first pointed the finger of suspicion at Wilkins, and who through the agency of a most remarkable dream, was first led to the conviction that he had murdered his putative wife.

NET IS CLOSING ON THE SUSPECT

SAN FRANCISCO Nov. 27.—M. A. Wilkins, accused of a murder at Oakland, was today identified by Detective Sergeant Gibson as T. C. Bennett, formerly a convict in the State prison at San Quentin on February 9, 1896. Bennett, who then resided at 14 McAllister street in the city, attacked his wife with a razor and nearly killed her. He was tried and convicted of assault with intent to commit murder and sentenced to two years in prison in the penitentiary.

Slowly but surely, according to the evidence being gathered by District Attorney Brown and Sheriff Barnett and according to their statements, the net is closing upon M. A. Wilkins, believed to have slain Verna Wallace, found buried under his barn and who is also suspected of the murder of Earl Kimmion.

Here are the latest developments in the case.

Wilkins returned to Oakland on the night of July 21, after having given out that he was leaving for the last time that afternoon. He was accompanied by a mysterious woman whose identity is as yet unknown. He appeared three days later and told neighbors that he had taken his wife East.

Mrs. Folsome, wife of the superintendent of the Native Sons Hall in San Francisco, was the last person to see Mrs. Wilkins alive. She sat with the murdered woman on the evening of the disappearance, according to neighbors.

Electric lights were kept burning all night in the yard by Wilkins. He started the practice within the last few months.

The grave was dug fully two weeks before the crime was committed.

Wilkins was seen wheeling earth into the barn after his wife's disappearance.

Earl Kimmion disappeared after a hunting expedition with Wilkins. Wilkins said the young man had gone East. Circumstances point to the murder of Kimmion in the hills.

Additional evidence that the woman who passed as the wife of M. A. Wilkins, and of whose murder he is accused, was Mrs. Verna Lunderman, formerly of Kansas City, was obtained today. A dispatch from Kansas City gave the information that according to her father, Henry P. Lunderman, Mrs. Lunderman had a gold crown on an upper right hand tooth. An examination of the body of the woman which was found buried in the rear of the Wilkins home shows that it has two gold crowned teeth, one on each side of the head, but no other teeth have dropped out, the exact position of these two cannot definitely be given.

DAMAGING TESTIMONY AGAINST MRS. BRADLEY INVOLVES ATTEMPT OF MRS. BROWN TO SLAY WOMAN

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

WASHINGTON Nov. 27.—Damaging testimony was given today against Mrs. Annie M. Bradley on trial for the killing of Senator Arthur M. Brown of Utah. A number of witnesses were called in rebuttal and being asked as to her mental condition declared that the question of her sanity had not been suggested to them, that she appeared rational and talked coherently. Many of these witnesses saw her shortly after the shooting and talked to her but none of them regarded her as insane.

WILKINS GUILTY OF MANY MURDERS, HE THINKS

woman unseated the other day. The night he was arrested he made many contradictory statements to me. When I asked him where his wife was he told me she had gone to Kansas City. He described her trip to me and how she had gone to the train with her and other letters. I talked with him to an hour and a half and then I told him to come with me to the auto. He asked me where I was going and I told him I was going to Kansas City. He said nothing further until we arrived at Elmhurst and saw the dead woman in front of his house. Then he said, "Oh my God, and I lived back in his seat." I asked him why he had done it and he said it was the middle of July.

MADE MANY CONTRADICTORY STATEMENTS

He made many different statements each contradictory. One proposition was that the wife had taken the poison between the time of the trial and the time of the execution. He said that the effect of the drug did not show themselves until 11 o'clock when she struggled for about five minutes and died. Every physician knows this is false. She was dead before the effect of the drug was felt. There are occasions when the effect is not felt until an hour later.

Wilkins has engaged Hugh McKee as his attorney. McKee was formerly a district attorney in Marin county and is now a law partner of Daniel Ryan, recently candidate for mayor of San Francisco. McKee's office is on Bush and Fillmore streets. McKee was closeted with Wilkins last night.

WOMAN'S INTUITION LEADS TO DISCOVERY

It was and is the intuition of a woman that led to the discovery of the ghastly crime. When Wilkins asked Mrs. Anderson to represent herself as his wife and requested that she take all the clothing and jewelry that the missing woman had on she declined that there was something wrong and confided her fears to Mrs. M. C. Burke who lives in the house to the north.

When Mrs. Burke was asked the matter that was of a week ago and it was not until Saturday that they could decide what action to take. It was then that Mrs. G. P. F. Bee, a daughter of Mrs. Burke, suggested that no harm could be done by acquainting the police with the facts. For a day the women hesitated, but early Monday morning told their story to Captain Petersen who called in Sheriff Burne.

AUTHORITIES HAD UNKINDLING OF CRIME

That the authorities, however, had some other inkling of the crime is the opinion of those residing in the neighborhood. It was but a few minutes after arriving at the house that the body of the unfortunate woman was uncovered and the promptness with which the official worked was the cause of the speculation which has led some to believe that some other informant was told what he knew and will be an important witness in the case against Wilkins.

It is known that Wilkins has been drinking heavily since the woman he said was his wife disappeared. He frequented the Elmhurst saloons and even there told off his stories. To one man he said she had gone East; while another was told she had died while in the Eastern States.

While no one the man could have had killed the woman as he is accused of, the motive is determined. That she was going to become a witness was shown in the autopsy yesterday, but if that is the case for the crime the man will be as good as one of the lowest criminals in the nation.

NEIGHBORS DECLARE WOMAN WAS HAPPY

He is said to have told District Attorney Ryan that the woman killed herself because she was to have a child. Neighbors, however, declare she was happy in the fact that she was to become a mother and prepared for the coming of the little one. Testimony of several persons will be had if Wilkins makes such a statement when he is brought to trial. He told numerous stories of how he met a woman with whom he lived. To a number he said that she was his wife while to others he said he met her on a train on his way to San Francisco. To Mrs. Burke he said that the woman was married and had a husband living in the Eastern State and had deserted him eight years ago and joined him (Wilkins).

GRUEL TELL ON MRS. ANDERSON

The terrible ordeal through which she has passed caused Mrs. Anderson to sleep in another room last night and owing to her poor health it is feared that the result may prove serious to her. Since the discovery of the body the woman who caused the arrest of Wilkins has slept but a few hours and is weak from lack of sleep and food.

That Wilkins is a dangerous man is attested by Mrs. Burke who declared that he was constantly in a state of nervousness and was just taking quick in pulling it. The deputy sheriff had no trouble in finding him as he was due to the fact that he was surprised and the revolver was lying on a table where Sheriff Burne found it. It was found in the house of the man at the time he was taken to the jail. The same night Mrs. Burke declared that she had seen the man when he was taken to the jail. He was taken to the jail at the time he was taken to the jail. He was taken to the jail at the time he was taken to the jail.

DREAMS SHE SEES WOMAN KILLED; AWAKES IN TERROR TO FIND THE DREAM - CRIMINAL AT HER SIDE

REMARKABLE STORY OF MRS. ANDERSON

Mrs. A. D. Anderson, who took up her residence in the Wilkins house at Elmhurst after the disappearance of Mrs. Wilkins, tells a most remarkable story of a dream that led her to the belief that Wilkins, whom she had taken as a boarder, had murdered the woman who had passed as his wife. The story of this dream and the sudden awakening from it to find Wilkins bending over her is one of the most eerie and dramatic in the local annals of crime.

My husband and I had taken a trip to a friend's house and I had left for work about 6:45 o'clock and I went to bed on a sofa in the living room and fell asleep. While sleeping I dreamed that Mr. Wilkins and I were having an argument and I dreamt which I refused to sign. I thought it was a bad dream and I signed it. Then it seemed to me that I was with him and I saw him. I said, "You have killed one woman, but you can't kill me."

Suddenly a light in the doorway showed the table opened and I saw a grave with the dead body of a woman in it. I saw the body in the exact position that Mrs. Wilkins was found in the grave. Her arm was bent and her fingers were cramped. I clearly saw the imposed face of the woman partly eaten away by lime, staring at me out of a grave so narrow. Sheriff Barnett says that the man must have stamped the body down with his feet to get it in. I saw the whole thing as plain as I did when the grave was really opened.

Then he grabbed a long knife and made a thrust at me saying, "You are next." At the thrust I gave a loud scream and woke up to find him really standing over me with his eyes intensely fixed upon my face. I was terrified and said, "What are you doing here?"

You seemed to be having a trouble sleep, he said, so I was going to wake you. It is not good to sleep when you are having bad dreams.

I was still frightened and commended him to leave the room which he did.

I suspected the man of the murder and to find him standing over me, with no one else in the house and after such a dream was horrible.

After my dream I was in a highly nervous state of mind for I had not slept more than six hours. I put together for a week. I could stand the strain no longer and decided to refer the matter to the police authorities.

Mrs. Anderson leaves Wilkins feeling she knew too much had marked her for his next victim.

PILING UP EVIDENCE AGAINST THE PRISONER

UNKNOWN WOMAN SEEN WITH HIM ON NIGHT OF MURDER

GRAVE DUG IN BARN 2 WEEKS BEFORE CRIME

Husband's Story That He Went East on Day of 'Wife's' Disappearance Is Disproved.

(By Jack Wishaar)

CIRCUMSTANTIAL evidence so damning in its nature that Mrs. M. E. Burke, Mrs. G. B. Belchee, who were instrumental in exposing the tragedy at the Wilkins home. They occupy the house adjoining and were the first to suspect that a crime had been committed. Mrs. Belchee went to the police with Mrs. Anderson.

JACK WISHAAR

And they are weaving the rope which will probably be placed around Wilkins' neck. Aside from the finding of the body one of the most vital pieces of evidence against the accused man is that it can be proved he returned to Oakland on the night his wife disappeared and when he had given out that he was that afternoon leaving for the East for a visit of several days.

MYSTERIOUS WOMAN APPEARS IN CASE.

A mysterious woman is also interjected into the case. Her identity remains, as yet one of the mysteries of the case, also as to whether or not she was either directly or indirectly connected with the crime. This woman was with Wilkins and accompanied him to Oakland on the evening of July 21, the night Mrs. Wilkins disappeared and on the day Wilkins was supposed to have gone East. These facts are proved by the evidence of Maynard Meyer, a machinist, in the employ of the Pacific Motor Car Company of San Francisco, and a neighbor of Wilkins. Meyer can not only fix the date positively by means of certain Sunday work done on a special car, but even the time. He stated he saw Wilkins, accompanied by a handsome woman and a child, leave the ferry on the Oakland side and board a train for Oakland about 7 o'clock July 21.

SPOKE TO WILKINS ON THE TRAIN.

"I knew Wilkins was to have gone East that day and I was surprised," said Meyer. "I called to him, 'Hello, Wilkins, I thought you had gone away.' But he would scarcely look at me and seemed terribly put out it being recognized." Meyer did not know the woman, having never seen her in or near the Wilkins home. This testimony will effectively prevent Wilkins from swearing he had left for the East as he claimed he was going to do, and will prevent an alibi in that way. Another point established was that Mrs. Folsome, wife of the superintendent of the Native Sons' Hall in San Francisco, was probably the last person to see the murdered woman before her death. On Sunday evening shortly before dark, Mrs. Folsome and Mrs. Wilkins sat on the front porch of the Wilkins home. Mrs. Folsome owns a summer home two houses from the Wilkins home. The two families were extremely intimate, according to the neighbors, and it was the custom to visit back and forth. On this fateful Sunday evening the two women sat on the front porch and the twilight deepened, possibly talked as women will talk to one another in the quiet of the evening, little dreaming that a fiend in human shape was on the way to commit his deed of blood.

Mrs. Anderson awoke to find the evil face of Wilkins bending over her.

The next day Mrs. Wilkins was not seen. Two days later Wilkins came back. He was irritable and nervous. He stated his wife had gone East in order to be with her mother when it came time for her confinement. And then it was that Wilkins changed. He seldom left his yard. The stable was always locked. Earl Kimmon, the freed man, was sent away for a few days. Two weeks later he likewise disappeared. It was the custom of Wilkins to go into the hills hunting. It was after one of these hunting expeditions that Kimmon failed to be seen around the place. Was he murdered in the hills? Did he become suspicious of the locked barn and awake within the murderer's hear the fear that the crime might be revealed? Only a further investigation can answer these questions. At present circumstantial evidence says yes. And then Wilkins settled down to a hum drum life. It was only the suspicions of a woman that revealed the

NEIGHBORS SUSPICIONS AROUSED BY STORIES.

Wilkins' many different stories regarding his wife's disappearance, their own knowledge that the woman had not contemplated a journey and other circumstances aroused a feeling that murder had been done. And that that murder was carefully planned is shown by the most cursory investigation. The stable in which the body was found was first carefully weather-boarded. Every nook and cranny by which an inquisitive eye might gain an insight as to what was within, was carefully covered up. Electric wires were strung across the yard and electric lamps put in the little stable. It is a miserable little 8x10 frame affair, with sloping sides and dusty rafters. Cobwebs hang from the roof and a sense of evil pervades the place. Its whitewashed walls and rusty door hinges are ordinary enough from the outside. But the electric wires were long enough to be brought near the ground so that whoever used the amps would have enough light to see clearly what was being done, and also to hide even the faintest glimmer from the outside. And a heavy lock was fastened on the door. And this stable was always locked.

Wilkins burned electric lights in his yard all night. Why?

Behind the house is a small yard. There are a few little trees and a couple of clothes lines. On these trees and on the lines electric lamps were strung by Wilkins. Why? Neighbors say the lamps burned all night. Mrs. R. B. Meyer can vouch for this, as also Mrs. W. A. Rainier. And this custom of letting the lights in the yard burn all night was of recent origin with Wilkins—within the last few months. Was it that he feared the spirit of his murdered wife would arise from its earthly casket buried out there in the barn and accuse him? Why was he willing to pay the electric light bill for lamps in his yard when he became so short of money that he had to mortgage his home to Mrs. Budinsky, of 1659 Haight street, for $480? Ask the neighbors and they will tell you because he murdered his wife.

MURDERER WAS A BAD BUNGLER.

But if Wilkins murdered his wife—and circumstantial evidence says he did—he is a bungler. That he is a cold-blooded assassin of the worst type, evidence gives every reason to believe. That he is guilty of at least one murder, and most probably two, there is also every reason to believe. But while possessing the brute lust for blood and the lack of moral and spiritual nature which would hold him from these deeds he lacked the shrewdness of the average house-breaker. Bungler is written in every line of his handwork, from the gag put in the dead woman's mouth to the waist discarded in the barn, and his unsuccessful attempt to make it appear that he had gone east at the time his wife disappeared. And he bungled through an access of caution and an inability to remember the stories he had told to explain his wife's disappearance. His efforts to sell his dead wife's clothes and the little garments made by the patient hands of the dead woman for the yet unborn babe first awakened the suspicion of the neighbors. Mrs. M. S. Burke and her daughter, Mrs. G. B. Belchee, who live next door, stated that about two weeks after Mrs. Wilkins' disappearance a Jewish woman came to their home and asked for Wilkins.

CAME TO BUY DEAD WOMAN'S CLOTHES.

"I told her he was out," said Mrs. Burke. "She then told me she had come over to buy Mrs. Wilkins' clothes, as Wilkins had told her he would sell them cheap." And it's too bad about poor Mrs. Wilkins, isn't it? she said to me. "Too bad about her; what do you mean?" I replied, continued Mrs. Burke. "Why, she died in child birth and was buried from her home there, wasn't she?" the woman asked. "Not that I know of," I answered. "Her husband told me she had gone to Kansas City." "Why, he told me she had died and the baby also, and I was going to buy her clothes," the woman said. When I heard that my suspicions were aroused. For why should he tell such different stories? I questioned the woman further, but she got nervous and begged me not to say anything about it. I don't remember her name, but she sells lottery tickets in San Francisco and is the mother of two children. And from that time the women watched Wilkins. On his return from the supposed eastern trip they saw him wheel earth to the barn. He told them he was going to dig up the earth had come from the cesspool that he had been digging and he had told them he was to use the earth for the flower beds. The fact that he wheeled it into the barn surprised them, and awakened that latent curiosity

Mrs. M. E. Burke and her daughter, Mrs. G. B. Belchee, who were instrumental in exposing the tragedy at the Wilkins home. They occupy the house adjoining and were the first to suspect that a crime had been committed. Mrs. Belchee went to the police with Mrs. Anderson.

MRS. M. E. BURKE.

Earl Kimmon disappeared after a hunting trip with the accused murderer.

in the female breast which is seldom educated.

But the harrowing experience of Mrs. A. D. Anderson, with Wilkins, coupled with her dream, convinced the women, by that greatest and yet most unexplainable of all human phenomena, feminine intuition, that a crime had been committed.

Recently the Andersons moved from Portland to San Francisco. They stayed while at the Planters' Hotel in San Francisco, where they became acquainted with Wilkins.

About two weeks ago they went to the Wilkins home to live, with a view of buying the place. Anderson is a machinist. He leaves his home about 6 o'clock every morning for his work in San Francisco. His wife arises early, gets his breakfast and usually returns to bed when he has gone. Wilkins slept on a couch in the dining room. Last Friday Mrs. Anderson returned to her bed as was her custom after seeing her husband off. Dropping into a doze she dreamed Wilkins was standing over her and that he told her he had killed his wife and buried her beneath the dining room floor and would treat her the same. The dream was so vivid that the woman awoke with a scream, but screamed a second time, for, bending over her, his evil face close to hers, was Wilkins, the light of passion in his wearied eyes, his beardly face ablaze with unholiness and fear, for she had evidently been muttering in her sleep and he had overheard her.

WOMAN IS ILL FROM THE SHOCK.

Almost paralyzed by fear, alone in the house with the man she believed to have murdered another woman in the same room, she, possibly on the same bed, Mrs. Anderson received a shock that has left her weak and nerve-shattered. Summoning the remnant of her falling strength and courage she demanded what he meant by entering her room. He mumbled something and after a minute left. Mrs. Anderson fled to her neighbors, Mrs. Burke and Mrs. Belchee, and the women compared notes. They recalled the fact that on October 12 Wilkins had returned from a supposed eastern trip to see his wife and had rushed in, telling them that she had been delivered of a

THE REASON.

"There goes a man who doesn't get credit at any business establishment in town." "Who? Old Mr. Wortham? Why, I thought he was one of the most reliable men in the city. Why doesn't he get credit?" "Because he always pays cash."

The czar's sister, the grand duchess Olga, is intensely democratic. She is especially fond of Americans, saying they are "the only people worth cultivating."

"bouncing boy weighing eleven pounds." They did not know Wilkins had been in the Planters Hotel in San Francisco during this time that he was supposed to have been east. He had given them all the details of his pleasure at hearing that he was the father of a big boy, but that the next day before someone else, when they started to compliment him again, he had warned them to remain silent. As an excuse he said he would have to buy too many drinks if it became known that he was a newly made father.

To a woman's intuition is due the discovery of the body of the murdered woman.

The comparing of notes by the women, the voicing of the suspicions that had been lodged in their breasts for some time resulted in the trip to the police. They recalled that Wilkins had been wheeling earth to the barn when he returned from the alleged eastern trip three days after his wife disappeared, and supposed if a murder had been committed it was there that the body would be found. And once again it was shown that a woman's intuition can accomplish more, with greater rapidity, than the skill of the trained thief hunters. The gruesome find proved their suspicions correct and lodged Wilkins in jail and placed him already within the shadow of the hangman's noose.

MRS. ANDERSON FEARED FOR LIFE.

And Mrs. Anderson is congratulating herself on her escape, for she, and her friends, too, are firmly convinced that Wilkins planned her murder likewise. Wilkins sought to have Mrs. Anderson go with him to the county clerk's office and pose as Mrs. Wilkins, so that he would have a deed recorded. The deed was in both his and his wife's name. She not being present, he wished to have Mrs. Anderson sign as Mrs. Wilkins. This she refused to do. She feared him from the start and avoided him as much as possible.

And yet Wilkins was fairly well liked. The only fault his male neighbors had to find with him was his remarkable imagination, or failure to recognize truth from falsehood. He has the reputation throughout the little town of Elmhurst of being the most accomplished, and yet forgetful, liar that the village has ever known. His conflicting stories regarding his business aroused suspicion and

TURKEY TO ELUDE FATE FLIES TO TOP OF COURTHOUSE

More than an ordinary flutter of excitement was occasioned about courthouse circles this morning when a real live turkey got out of its coop at the free market and before the owning huckster could retake it, had flown to the top of the courthouse. Soon a crowd gathered about the big building and the occupants of the different offices ran to the windows to see what it all meant. The District Attorney's office was supplied in a trice, a general alarm taking possession of the chief and his deputies. Soon the deputies from the Assessor's and the Tax Collector's offices found out the cause of the disturbance and made their way to the top of the courthouse, the huckster following.

The turkey was captured at last by a little boy who had taken part in the chase and turned over to the owner. The owner then turned to Deputy Assessor Jones and told him to give the boy a dime for his trouble. With that the tradesman took his way with the now subdued bird.

there were few in the town who would trust him.

To some he said he was running a garage in the city with eighteen or twenty men under him, to others, that he was employed as a machinist. But all agreed that he and his wife appeared to be a happy couple. She was described as being a blond, retreating little blond with light brown hair, big blue eyes and a pathetic little droop to the head. The neighbors did not find in her the whole-souled, rough heartiness that characterizes the villagers. Of a more refined and gentle nature than her neighbors, she seemed to be like a flower transplanted to foreign soil. From all accounts she was a girl of education and had evidently been carefully raised. Her women friends could not see in her little soft hands any signs of housework, and her clothing, when she arrived in April, 1907, was of the best.

LIVED SOLITARY SORT OF LIFE.

The couple lived a solitary sort of a life. They had few callers, and were intimate with few. With the exception of the Folsomes, hardly any of the neighbors visited them. Not that they did not receive a courteous welcome, but—well, they don't know why. Was it that the little woman, scarcely more than a girl, had set herself against certain rules laid down by society for its own preservation, and knowing this, fearing detection and expecting soon to usher into the world another little life, had pinned and sought to separate herself as much as possible from her sisters? The lips that might have answered have long been stilled, and the only other ones are as yet locked in silence.

The Last Person to See Slain Woman Was the Wife of a Prominent San Francisco Man.

The Wilkins home is a pretty little place on Grand avenue, Elmhurst. A tiny whitewashed cottage with a pretty garden in front, it is the last place that would be connected with a revolting crime. A little whitewashed fence keeps the curious from the flower beds. Painted on the gate is the name M. A. Wilkins. The little board walk leading up to the little frame porch is well kept and neat. The diminutiveness of the place is one of its most striking characteristics.

There are only three rooms, a parlor-dining room in front, opening off it is the bedroom and in the rear is the kitchen. It was here that Wilkins' grip with its strange outfit of tools was discovered, with its extra electric light sockets and many mechanical instruments.

"But if Wilkins murdered his wife—and circumstantial evidence says he did—he is a bungler."

The parlor is a tiny little room, with cheap red-figured paper on the walls and a few cheap prints hung here and there. The bedroom is the same, while the little kitchen incurs every the dignity of paper. The house has been turned topsy-turvy in the search for evidence in the room. Over in one corner of the dining-room sits two baskets. In them are carefully piled the linens of the dead woman. And mixed in with them are scores of little dresses, tiny caps, little shirts, gossamer socks. And they have been carefully and laboriously made. The loving care of a wife who is working for the new life she will soon usher into this world is shown in the tiny garments. The little clothes bear mute testimony of the many hours of patient toil spent over them and the pleasure with which the girl-wife awaited the time when she could clasp to her breast the throbbing, pulsating life that was soon to begin in earnest. But they have been cast aside like her who made them and the little body for whom they were intended never saw the light of day. And the father, what of him? In a cell in the city jail, nervously pacing the floor with visions of the cross-beam and back cap, he recalls the fact that the "milk of the gods" grind slowly but they grind exceedingly small."

YARD DUG UP BY SEARCHERS.

The house has a yard of about half an acre. There are, or have been, four pretty flower beds. They are now dug up and ruined. But these flower beds were the joy and pride of the girl-wife. It was her delight to sit and potter with her plants.

In the rear of the house is the fateful stable with its padlock now hanging open and the marks of searchers everywhere. The interior has been fairly well dug up. The garden is pitted with holes, where spades, in search of the body of the missing Earl Kimmons have turned up the ground. Over the place hovers the specter of the crime, and even now a sense of desolation comes and surrounds it. All day the place was thronged with the deputies and the curious. But the villagers deserted the vicinity shortly after the sun had gone down. By dark there was not a soul near the scene of the crime, and the little house showed with a ghastly white against the black of the night.

WOMAN'S WAIST IN THE BARN.

Lying half buried in the rubbish in the shed was a woman's silken waist. There was a large rent in the left side, as though caused by some sharp instrument. It was not on the body when found. Possibly it had been cast aside by the murderer when, in the light of his electric lamps on the night of July 21, he prepared the body for its final rest. Whether she was what her husband had endeavored to paint her, or whether she was some trusting girl who had fled with him believing in his soft promises, may never be revealed. So that as it may, if she erred she has paid the price.

And now the hounds of the law are hot on the trail of the murderer. I have assisted in the investigation of many big murder cases, both in New York and in the West, but never have I seen a clearer case or one more sure to send the accused to the chair than the one against W. A. Wilkins.

OLD SORES FED AND KEPT OPEN BY IMPURITIES IN THE BLOOD

Every Old Sore is an outside symptom of a weak or polluted condition of the blood—the external evidence of physical impurity. If they were due to outside influences, or if the cause was confined strictly to the diseased flesh around the ulcer, then local treatment and simple cleanliness would cure them. But the foundation of the trouble is in the blood, which has from some cause become unhealthy and diseased, and is keeping the sore or ulcer open by continually discharging into it the impurities and poisons with which it is filled.

This impure condition of the blood may be the remains of some constitutional trouble; the effect of a long spell of sickness, which has left the circulation weak and germ-infected, or because the natural waste and refuse matter of the body, which should pass off through the proper channels, has been left in the system to ferment and decay and be absorbed into the blood. Again the cause may be hereditary, the polluted blood of ancestry being handed down to posterity; but it does not matter how the trouble became entrenched in the blood, the fact that the sore will not heal is evidence of its deep, underlying cause, and shows the absolute necessity for the very best constitutional treatment.

There is nothing that causes more discomfort and worry than a festering, discharging old sore, as it lingers, slowly eating into the surrounding tissues and flesh, and by its obstinacy and tendency to grow worse, in every way suggesting the possibility of being cancerous in its nature; for there is no difference at first in the appearance of a cancerous and a common ulcer, and any sore that persistently refuses to heal may degenerate into Cancer if the blood is not purified of the poisons which produce the trouble.

Salves, washes, lotions, etc., cannot effect a cure of an obstinate sore or ulcer. Such treatment may assist in keeping the place clean and antiseptic, but it does not reach the blood where the real cause is located, and can therefore have no permanent good effect.

S. S. S. goes to the fountain-head of the trouble and drives out the poison-producing germs and morbid matters which are keeping the sore or ulcer open. It removes every particle of impurity from the circulation and makes this life-stream pure, fresh and health-sustaining. Then as this rich, purified blood is carried to the place the healing begins, all discharge ceases, the inflammation gradually leaves, new tissue and healthy flesh are formed, and soon the sore or ulcer is cured, and permanently so, for the cause has been entirely removed.

If you have a sore or ulcer that is slow in healing do not depend upon local applications alone; remember it may develop cancerous tendencies, and the only way to effect a cure is to purify your blood with S. S. S. This medicine possesses the finest of tonic properties that build up and strengthen the entire system and in every way assists in bringing about a prompt and certain cure. To sum the matter up—purify your blood and the sore will heal of its own accord. Special book on Sores and Ulcers and any special medical advice desired will be furnished without charge to all who write.

MILLIONAIRES FEAR EXPOSURE

Pittsburg Society Rushes to Aid of Englishman Who Offered to Sell Court Favors.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 27.—Millionaires and society leaders of Pittsburg are flocking to the relief of Reginald Spaulding, the young Englishman who proposed to introduce them at the court of St. James, and is now languishing in jail as a suspicious person. Some hundreds of the elite wrote letters to Spaulding expressing their desire to appear in Britain's court, no matter what he charged. These letters were found by the police. Hence the social anxiety lest the accused names be disclosed and they be called to testify. They don't want Spaulding tried. They offer him any fine imposed. When Spaulding comes up for hearing Friday he will likely be set free. Yesterday Spaulding announced that he had been commissioned by Lady Suffield to tell her court favors to aristocratic wealthy Americans. Today official word arrives from Lord Suffield that his royal spouse never heard of Spaulding and never authorized him nor anybody else to sell presentations, and she feels much hurt about the incident.

OBJECT TO ORDER EXCLUDING "CHRIST"

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—What promises to be a strenuous session of the Board of Education will occur when that body holds its regular meeting late this afternoon. More than fifty ministers have declared their intention to attend the meeting for the purpose of protesting against the recent order of the board barring all sectarian songs from the schools and declaring that the word "Christ" shall be excluded, even from the Christmas exercises. The board states that its order only carries out the positive instructions of the law.

BRYAN GRILLED BY DANIEL

Virginian Tells Nebraskan he Dictates Course of Party, and Split May Follow.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—William Jennings Bryan and Senator John W. Daniel of Virginia, got into a row in the lobby of the New Willard hotel, which drew a crowd and which may be the prelude to a split in the party. The quarrel was brought about by Mayor Harris, a local character who claims a handshaking acquaintance with all the public men since the flood. Senator Daniel, who uses crutches, walked to the Fourteenth street entrance and waited for Bryan. The latter was not long in coming. They shook hands. Then they spoke for a minute or two in low tones. Presently Senator Daniel's voice grew louder. "I'm sorry, but I cannot agree with you," said Daniel. "I like you personally, but I cannot agree with your principles. I think you are wrong. You don't listen enough to those who make up the party. You are too fond of dictating what the party shall do." "Why, when did I do that?" asked Bryan, taken aback. "You did it in 1900," said Senator Daniel, with rising temper. "You then declared that you would not accept a nomination unless the silver plank was incorporated in the platform." "Well, you were with me on that plank in 1898, Senator." "I beg to differ with you, I was not with you." "You were a member of the committee which drew up the platform," persisted Bryan. "Yes, but I opposed that plank in the platform," replied Daniel. "I did not believe in it. I fought it when the platform was being written. The trouble with you, Mr. Bryan, is that you dictate too much. You have been too prone to take your cue from the independence league." "Well, Senator, I don't want to quarrel with you about the matter; when you begin to tell me I take my opinions from anybody I think I had better be going." Then Bryan beat a retreat without saying goodbye. Senator Daniel, looking very angry, stomped out and took a train for Richmond.

SHOT AND ROBBED BY BURGLARS AT FLORIN

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 27.—A daring midnight burglary and cold-blooded attempt at murder called Sheriff Reese and Deputy Whyte to Florin early yesterday morning. The crime was committed by two armed white men who entered the cabin of P. Nogi and Y. Yamaka, Japanese, on the outskirts of the town. Monday night, roused the occupants from their slumbers and with leveled revolvers ordered the victims to throw up their hands. Yamaka complied, but his companion decided to put the show of defense and was shot down. The robbers secured $21.90.

ANARCHY FOSTERED, HE SAYS, IN NAVY BASEBALL

Head of Sabbath Alliance Wants Roosevelt and Uncle Sam to Go on Record.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.) NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—"President Roosevelt and the United States Government are fostering anarchy," was the startling announcement made by Rev. Dr. Mutchler at the annual meeting of the International Sabbath Alliance, of which he is president. He has been here for a week and sent to Washington and next week President Roosevelt and Secretary McCall will have to put themselves on record. The denunciation of the President and of the Government is based on the fact that the sailors at League Island navy yard near Philadelphia were allowed to play baseball on Sunday in spite of the protests of the alliance.

JOHN SHARP BIG EXODUS TO SEES UNCLE JOE OLD COUNTRIES

Democratic Minority Leader Has Heart to Heart Talk With Speaker.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Representative John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, the Democratic minority leader in the House of Representatives, had a conference yesterday with Speaker Cannon on the subject of minority representation on the House committees. He told the speaker that the Democrats would insist upon an increase in their representation corresponding with the increase in the Democratic membership of the House. In the last Congress the Democrats constituted 33 per cent of the total membership, while this year they constitute about 43 per cent. In consequence of this augmentation in their membership they will ask seven members on each committee instead of six as at present, leaving the Republican numbers undisturbed. The speaker made no definite promises in reply and another conference will be held on the subject.

FRIEND HELPS BROTHER SLAVS; IS THEN ROBBED

(Special to The Tribune.) SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—Joseph Batra, a Slavonian, out of kindness befriended and brought two of his countrymen from Sacramento, and in return, according to his story, last night they robbed him of $100. Batra and the two men took lodging at a rooming house at 42 Sacramento street for a week, for which the former paid. They then left the place to see the sights. After spending the evening in amusements at Batra's expense, the trio retired. Upon arising this morning Batra found his two supposed friends missing, with their suitcases and money, and nearly all his clothing. In their place he found two empty grips. He immediately notified the police, but they think his ungrateful friends have left the city.

PNEUMONIA NOT ABLE TO ATTACK SMOKERS

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—"There is a lot of consolation in the thought that even tobacco has a redeeming quality," mused Dr. Martin Friedlander, the Cleveland health officer, between puffs on a big black cheroot. "If you smoke you can feel pretty sure you are pneumonia proof. In my practice I have found few tobacco users who have suffered from pneumonia. 'The germ enters the system through the nose and mouth. As soon as it finds it has been breathed in by a smoker it gives up the job. Whiskey, however, should be shunned by those who would have themselves immune from pneumonia. Its use adds to the danger.'"

USE WAGON TO LOOT MARKET OF ITS TURKEYS

(Special to The Tribune.) SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—Turkey was the plunder that caused two thieves to break into the St. Ives Market at 326 Montgomery avenue some time during the night and they succeeded in getting away with almost the entire stock of precious birds, which Proprietor Mat Schwartz had placed in stock for Thanksgiving. The robbers evidently used a horse and wagon which they deliberately backed up to the front of the store and after prying open the door with a jimmy they cleared out the place. Turkeys to the value of $500 were stolen besides $15 in money which was in the cash register. Two detectives have been detailed to try to run down the thieves, but Schwartz despaired of recovering his goods in time for his holiday trade.

GET RICH LOOT IN BROAD DAY

Woman Sees Burglars Walk Out Front Door but Suspects Nothing.

Two burglars who looted the apartments of Miss M. L. Rhodes in a fashionable boarding house at 464 Twentieth street yesterday afternoon, were seen by Miss Rhodes as they departed through the front door, but the young woman suspected nothing until she visited her room. Then she found that every dresser and bureau drawer had been ransacked and money and jewelry to value of $400 was missing. During the time the burglars were ransacking the house Miss Rhodes was in the dining room. The men were seen leaving the house by a little girl, but she could not give accurate description of them. The boarding house is conducted by Mrs. Carrie Olmstead and is situated next to the building occupied as an armory by Company A, National Guard of California, in an exposed position, and it is supposed that burglars had no difficulty in entering and searching the house. The fact that nothing of value is reported having been taken from other parts of the house is explained by the supposition that the thieves were frightened away by the arrival of a grocery boy with goods at the back door.

Stockton Takes Precautionary Measures to Save Blockade of Port.

STOCKTON, Nov. 27.—The contract for cutting the levee on the south side of Mormon channel to divert the water across the Boggs tract into the San Joaquin river and the construction of a dam across the channel was let yesterday to Lewis Moring, who must complete the job inside of fifteen days. Work will be commenced Friday morning and 200 teams, with a large number of men, will make the dirt fly. It will not take long to make the opening, but the dam will keep the contractor hustling to have it finished in the required time.

TO UPHOLD ACT OF ROOSEVELT SEEK REASON FOR MURDER

Senate Committee Said to Sustain President for Discharging Rioting Soldiers. Believed Woman of Mystery Could Not Stand Exposure of Deception.

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—With the possible exception of one more witness, the Senate Committee on Military Affairs yesterday concluded the hearing of testimony bearing on the riot in Brownsville, Texas. It was expected that there will be two more witnesses, one colored soldier and one white soldier, who were responsible for the shooting and justifying the course of the President in discharging them; and another to be prepared by Senator Foraker, taking the position that the testimony has not been sufficient to hold the troops responsible. NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The body of Mrs. Grace Smith, the woman of mystery who murdered her husband and then killed herself at New Rochelle, will be buried beside him in Baltimore. Smith's brother is here from Baltimore to look into the mystery which still surrounds the slaying. The fact that the time was approaching when the estate of the late W. H. Bulkeley of Hartford, to which the woman had always claimed to be the principal heir, was about to be divided, is now thought to have had something to do with the woman's deception. The executors of the Bulkeley estate will divide the property among the children of that division the falsity of Mrs. Smith's claims must have become known to her friends.

ORGANIZED LABOR MAKES ANOTHER STRONG ENDORSEMENT OF SPERRY & HUTCHINSON GREEN TRADING STAMPS "The Courier-Herald" "The official journal of and published for the Central Labor Union of Wilkes-Barre (Pa.), a locality," has endorsed itself as follows: THE SPERRY & HUTCHINSON CO. "S. & H." GREEN TRADING STAMP FAME. With a Local Branch at 85 SOUTH MAIN STREET, WILKESBARRE, PA. As the years roll by, the popularity of the S. & H. Green Trading Stamps seems to expand at an ever-increasing rate, and to command more and more attention from Unionists, their families, and their friends in Wilkes-Barre and the Wyoming Valley. It is easy to account for this gratifying state of affairs, when we consider the many advantages to our community which result from the maintenance of one of The Sperry & Hutchinson Company's branches and premium rooms in this city. These advantages tend also to increase year by year, as the company for many reasons, seems only too willing to improve the intrinsic value of each Stamp. The Sperry & Hutchinson Co. is so extensive a buyer of all kinds of merchandise that it can, in turn, go direct to the leading union factories of the country, with the result that it not only gets better goods, but its premiums consist of virtually everything anyone can desire. The requirements of its immense chain of stores, distributed from Ocean to Ocean, and from the Canadian border down to the Gulf, is so great that, so far as all kinds of household furnishings is concerned, practically no wholesale or jobbing establishments can compete with it in capacity. Literally, carload lots of every variety of merchandise is monthly disbursed as premiums at The Sperry & Hutchinson Company's branch premium rooms. That "Competition is the life of trade" is manifested by The Sperry & Hutchinson Company's competitors with the great manufacturing plants of the country. Just as merchants keenly compete with each other, for the patronage of those who deal where S. & H. Green Trading Stamps are distributed, the manufacturers of the country compete for the trade of the Sperry & Hutchinson Company. These manufacturers know that The S. & H. Company can order sufficient goods at one time to keep their hands employed for months and, therefore, are prepared to quote the lowest possible prices for the best products of the inventive genius and skill of the country. It has often been asked why The Sperry & Hutchinson Green Trading Stamp Company does not conduct department stores since it is able to obtain all these goods to such phenomenally low rates, and sell merchandise, as well as give the goods away as premiums for stamps. The answer is that the Company aims to protect the merchants, whose products it is to sell merchandise. It is satisfied to perform the part of assistant to such merchants as are sufficiently appreciative of your trade to willingly share profits with you. S. & H. Stamps, in other words, are the means used by many representative dealers to induce you to trade with them by enabling you to get valuable premiums proportionate with the amount you buy. As we have stated, all the classes of merchandise which is used as premium by The Sperry & Hutchinson Company are being constantly reinforced by new ideas, and all of these new ideas are to be found today, fully displayed as never before. In the local branch store of The Sperry & Hutchinson Company, located at 85 South Main street, and which is under the able management of Mr. C. A. Underwood, whose popularity is only exceeded by that of his Company and the popularity of the premiums which it gives away so generously.

Call Grand Jury in the Kleinschmidt Case

KLEINSCHMIDT'S DUMB; AWAITS GRAND JURY

that investigation will show that he had nothing to do with Bellows' death.

KLEINSCHMIDT PASSES A BETTER NIGHT.

Harry Kleinschmidt passed a better night than usual last night and was up bright and early this morning. He appears to be getting more accustomed to his confinement and is taking it more as a matter of course. For a short time he chatted cheerfully with the jailers and it is evident that he expects the writ of habeas corpus will make him a free man.

District Attorney Brown has called the grand jury for 10:30 o'clock Monday morning and thirty-seven witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear. Among the list are Miss Blanche Kerfoot, the principal witness, but owing to her illness it is doubtful if she will be able to appear. The other witnesses are those who have already told their story to the prosecution. The mass of evidence which will be laid before the grand jury is thought more than sufficient to hold the accused murderer.

PREPARE AFFIDAVITS TO RESIST WRIT.

Brown and his deputies were busy today preparing the affidavits and getting ready to resist the writ of habeas corpus brought by Lin Church and Brewster Hayne. Kleinschmidt's attorneys, Judge Harris has made the writ returnable Friday but it is not thought that he will act until Monday, the first day of the general holidays. Judge Harris was undecided this morning when asked if he would hear the writ Friday. He says he will be establishing a precedent if he hears the writ on a legal holiday and it is likely that the matter will go over until Monday. It rests with him but at the same time the district attorney will be prepared to go ahead Friday.

Call for Grand Jury Is Issued

A call has been issued for the grand jury of this county to meet next Monday morning at 9 o'clock and consider the Kleinschmidt case, with a view to indicting the young man on a charge of murder. The call was issued by John Hinkle who is acting secretary of the Inquisitorial body during the absence of M. S. Seaton. Immediately the grand jury goes into session the prosecution will place its evidence before that body and ask the prompt return of an indictment.

TIME OF MEETING BELIEVED IMPORTANT.

That the grand jury is to meet at 9 o'clock and the habeas corpus proceedings are to come up at 10 o'clock is considered an important detail. The one hour of time will permit the great bulk of evidence now in the hands of the district attorney to be presented in a compact form. That it will take at least two or three hours to hear the arguments and affidavits in the habeas corpus proceedings is certain, and with these two or three hours added to the hour gained from 9 until 10 o'clock the grand jury will be able to consider the evidence and immediately return an indictment if it is found necessary to do so to prevent complications. In other words, there is no chance of the habeas corpus proceedings bringing about any tangible result. If Kleinschmidt cannot be held on the present complaint, there will be an indictment making his imprisonment regular.

Will Exhume Bellows' Body

The body of Frank Bellows, which was buried in Springfield, Mo., may be exhumed and brought to this city. Dr. O. D. Hamlin, it is said, has informed District Attorney Brown that such action would make the case stronger, as an analysis of the dead man's organs might be made to find traces of poison and perhaps determine how it was applied. District Attorney Brown is arranging to have the body exhumed.

"It is agreed by all parties that Bellows died as a result of cyanide of potassium poisoning and it will be of importance whether this is shown in the analysis of the stomach and mouth or not," said District Attorney Brown. "But we expect to find evidence of Bellows having been struck and rendered helpless before the cyanide of potassium was forced into his mouth by Kleinschmidt."

Brown Ready To Combat The Writ

The prosecution in the Kleinschmidt case is now busily engaged in preparing affidavits to combat the application by the attorneys for the defense, for a writ of habeas corpus. The hearing of the application will take place Monday before Superior Judge Harris.

The affidavits will be subscribed to by Chief Volmer of Berkeley, District Attorney Everett J. Brown, Deputy District Attorney Phil M. Carey and Robert M. Peck. Carey and Brown will present their reasons for not having placed a formal charge against Kleinschmidt, although detaining him in the county jail. The doubtful status of legal proceedings on holidays and the nature of the evidence against Kleinschmidt will be adduced in support of this position.

Volmer will give facts concerning the unearthing of evidence said to implicate Kleinschmidt in the alleged murder of Frank Bellows, and Peck, as the man who lost talked to Bellows before his meeting with Kleinschmidt, may be expected to depose regarding the events of the evening and his long and vain wait for Bellows' return.

The prosecution is confident that enough can be produced in this way without at all disclosing its case to insure the holding of Kleinschmidt.

Kleinschmidts Hurry Home

Hurrying to this city as fast as possible are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kleinschmidt, parents of the accused collegian. They have been in Helena, Montana, and started for home as soon as they learned of their son's predicament.

With them is coming, according to Walter Kleinschmidt, F. J. Walsh, a prominent attorney of Helena. He will be one of those retained, according to statements made by Kleinschmidt's relatives yesterday. John Garber of Berkeley also may be engaged. Judge Garber has long been a friend of the Kleinschmidt family. He has been connected with the elder Kleinschmidt in cases in the past.

WOMAN DECLARES BLANCHE KERFOOT'S STORY IS FALSE

MISS HAZEL HOTCHKISS.

Mrs. W. J. Hotchkiss Also Denies That Her Daughter Was Engaged to Bellows.

Among the Claremont society people who figure prominently in the Kleinschmidt case are Mrs. W. J. Hotchkiss, who said today regarding the rumored engagement of her daughter to Kleinschmidt:

"Hazel was never engaged to marry Frank Bellows. Her acquaintance with him was very slight. She met him at the neighborhood card club which held its meeting every other Tuesday night at the various members' homes. The club was composed of eleven members, all of whom lived at Claremont. Frank was a member of the club and Hazel was invited to join. Twice the club met at our house and naturally Hazel became acquainted with Bellows, but she was never intimate with him. Once she went with a party of friends to the theater with Bellows. He never called at the house except when the club convened.

"Hazel cannot be brought into the Kleinschmidt affair at all. During the Bellows incident Hazel was in Seattle on her summer vacation.

"I think this Kleinschmidt affair is nothing but a piece of blackmail, pure and simple and regarding the story of Miss Kerfoot I do not think it will carry much weight in court as the girl has often contradicted herself even in her deposition to the police officers. I know for a fact that Harry Kleinschmidt broke his engagement to Blanche and that will come out in court. I know Miss Kerfoot's statements are false."

R. PECK HELD RESPONSIBLE Brother of Kleinschmidt Advances New Theory.

Another theory, tending to show where the poison was obtained which killed Frank Bellows, is advanced by the Walter Kleinschmidt, brother of the accused young man.

He suggests that the poison might have been supplied to Bellows by none other than his companion on the night of the tragedy, R. M. Peck. Peck is an employee of F. W. Braun Company, purchasing agents, who handle drugs in wholesale quantities.

Peck was in a position to have supplied Bellows with the drug, but he denies having done so. Bellows had never mentioned such a thing to him, he told the police yesterday.

Much importance is attached to this phase of the case by Chief of Police Volmer.

"It is one link that would greatly strengthen our case," he said. "However, even without the missing vital, which was carelessly destroyed by the Coroner, I think we can prove that the acid was procured at the college laboratories and that Kleinschmidt was the one who took it from there."

TRAMP ARMY CAPTURES TRAIN

FRESNO, Nov. 27.—Sixty tramps seized a Southern Pacific freight train at Mendota, where the railway crosses the river, and compelled the train crew to give them a ride to Fresno. At Fresno they seized another freight train which was outbound and compelled the trainmen to take them along. Word was telegraphed ahead and at Visalia twenty officers were awaiting the train and succeeded in arresting forty-eight of the tramps. The men claim to be mill hands out of employment.

The appointment of a harbor committee would enable the Exchange to lend its influence to a work deemed by it to be one of the most important before the people of Oakland.

he had struck him on the nose. Fearful for his life, he claims, he drew his revolver and fired.

SAW ATTACK. Another story, however, is told by Wong Quing, a witness to the shooting. He tells the police that he saw three men attempt to kill Chen Lung. He declares that all three drew their revolvers, but that the prisoner was the only one who fired. Chen Lung, who is believed to be mortally wounded, was hurried to the receiving hospital, the district attorney's office was notified to file his dying statement and Lee Hoy Sing was taken to the hospital by the police, where his victim identified him.

The wounded man was later removed to Providence hospital.

Think Crime Took Place In Basement

That Frank Bellows might have been given a lethal drug by Harry Kleinschmidt in the basement of the latter's home and that the supposed struggle might have taken place in the basement instead of in the rear of the yard, is the intimation given out by Chief of Police Volmer. The theory is that the poison was not forced into Bellows' mouth, but was applied through some seemingly harmless medium.

The basement of the Kleinschmidt home becomes a center of importance. If the fact of Blanche Kerfoot's presence there, is of such vital concern to the detectives there arises the theory that Harry Kleinschmidt met Bellows in the same place on the night the young Chicagoan died.

VOLLMER REFUSES TO TALK ABOUT THEORY.

Chief of Police Volmer will not admit directly that he would try to prove that Bellows and Kleinschmidt had talked with each other in the basement or that Bellows was there given a lethal drug. It is current among the men close to the district attorney and to Volmer's office that the theory of the authorities is that the poison was not forced into Bellows' mouth, but was administered through some seemingly harmless medium.

Volmer evaded a direct answer to the query whether or not he would be able to prove directly that the poison was administered by Kleinschmidt.

"I will not discuss that at this time," he said.

MINERS REFUSE SCRIPT; STRIKE

Goldfield Men State That They Will Not Return to Work Until Pay in Coin is Assured.

GOLDFIELD, Nov. 27.—Local Union No. 220 Western Federation of Miners at an early hour this morning voted to refuse payment for wages in script or cashier's checks, and this morning failed to report to the mines for work. The result was reached after a prolonged session and much acrimonious discussion. The strike practically ties up the entire camp for the time being. The miners take the ground that Goldfield is the only gold camp in the country not paying its miners in coin.

The action came as a surprise to the operators. There is but one form of script in Goldfield, and that is being accepted as cash in all transactions except at the postoffice and express offices.

ADOPT RESOLUTION OF SYMPATHY FOR FIREMAN

The following resolutions of respect to the memory of Fireman Edward Brandt, who died while on duty, were adopted by the Fire Commissioners today:

"Whereas, Almighty God, in His wisdom has removed from our midst Edward Brandt, a brave and courageous member of the city of Oakland, who lost his life November 17, 1907, at the fire in Colfax Brothers' drug store while courageously discharging his duties as fireman; and

"Whereas, the deceased served as a fireman with ability and loyalty; and

"Whereas, during his service in the department he had never hesitated between duty and safety, and endeavored himself to every member of the Fire Department; therefore be it

"Resolved, That in the demise of Edward Brandt this board has lost an honest and faithful employee, the Fire Department of the city of Oakland a brave, faithful and conscientious member, the city of Oakland an honorable citizen, and his family a loving son and husband; and be it further

"Resolved, That this board extend to the bereaved family its deepest sympathy and condolence in their hour of sorrow, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the bereaved family, and also spread in full upon the minutes of this board.

The Commissioners also passed resolutions of respect to the memory of Special Foreman Edward White, who was murdered in Chinatown Monday night.

LARGE HOBO CONTINGENT COLLECTED BY POLICE

A big round-up of hoboes was made by the police last night and twenty-two were in the police court this morning on charges of evading railroad fare and violating the sleeping-out ordinance. Ten of these were sentenced to fifteen days each in the city jail by Judge Samuels on the latter charge.

The remaining twelve were held over until December 2 for a hearing on a charge of evading railroad fare. The members of the motley crew were evidently all chronic travelers, and they gave their residences as Virginia, Ohio, Illinois, Washington, Norway, Oregon, Indiana, Mississippi, Mexico, Cuba, Ireland, France, Italy and Germany. In all probability they will be the guests of the city for some time to come.

$61,079 IN BUILDING PERMITS FOR WEEK

The following figures, compiled by the Chamber of Commerce, show the building permits and their value for the week ending November 26:

New constructions, 27 permits; amount, $50,068; repairs, alterations and additions, 25 permits; amount, $10,541. Total, 52 permits; amount $61,079.

The monthly report from October 26 to November 27 inclusive, is: New constructions, 151 permits; amount, $65,120; repairs, alterations and additions, 155 permits; amount, $96,306.75. Total, 316 permits; amount, $701,326.75.

TIMID BURGLARS FLEE AT SLIGHT NOISES

Timorous burglars were those who visited the residence of Miss Elizabeth Shearer at 39 Rose avenue, and Mrs. Winnie Lock, 1214 Twenty-eighth street last night, for in both instances they took to their heels upon hearing slight noises in the house. Nothing was disturbed at either place. The thieves succeeded in entering the Shearer residence through the front window, but a hasty exit was made, although no one was in the house at the time. At the Lock home an attempt was made to pry open the front door with the aid of a knife, but the thieves' nerve failed before they succeeded in gaining entrance.

SOCIETY PEOPLE DROP KLEINSCHMIDT'S FAMILY

ORDERS HER NAME FROM GUEST LIST

Mrs. Willard Merrill Declines Many Invitations.

Because of Harry G. Kleinschmidt's alleged campaign to blast the reputation of girls prominent in Berkeley society, it is said by the prosecution that sensation after sensation will be sprung, when some sixty witnesses are called to give their testimony to fill in the details of the lengthy chain of circumstantial evidence. Many letters are said to be ready to be exhibited in the case and that prominent persons in the social whirl of the college town will be invoked through these episodes.

CARLS CONGRATULATING THEMSELVES NOW.

As a result of the revelations many young women who occupy high positions in the college town's society world, fraternally organizations and clubs, are congratulating themselves upon having severed relations with Harry Kleinschmidt long before the tragic end of young Bellows and while gossip was still rumor. That all was not right regarding the young collegian and the circle through which he moved is gathered from the action of many prominent young Berkeley girls in refusing to accept invitations to teas, lawn and card parties given by the sisters of the accused man.

HOME WAS SCENE OF MANY FUNCTIONS

The beautiful residence on Claremont, surrounded by well-kept grounds, became the scene of many a brilliant social function. There were lawn parties and dances which were attended by Berkeley society; the gardens and verandas of the big residence were decked with lanterns; card parties and whist clubs were formed, and only the elite admitted to their membership.

Then rumor began to circulate. It was noticeable that the gay entertainments on the Kleinschmidt estate became less and less, and that little by little Berkeley society dropped its acquaintance with young Kleinschmidt and his family. The reason for this is carefully guarded by the elder Kleinschmidt's gatherings become more festive and sounds of revelry were heard by night.

SAID TO HAVE "BROKEN" WITH THE FAMILY.

Opposite the Kleinschmidt home is the beautiful home of the parents of Hazel Hotchkiss, the athletic college girl who has gained fame on the tennis court, and who, it is said, was one among the number that broke with Kleinschmidt and his relatives.

Another prominent Berkeley woman who for certain reasons severed social relations with the Kleinschmidts is Mrs. Willard Merrill, wife of Willard Merrill, teller of the First National Bank of Berkeley. Mrs. Merrill is the daughter of Mrs. A. K. White, and resides at 2415 Fulton street, Berkeley. At the time she first met the Kleinschmidts she was Miss Hope, and was famed throughout the college town as a beauty and an expert equestrienne. Mrs. Merrill was introduced to the Kleinschmidt girls through a college chum.

ORDERED HER NAME FROM GUEST LIST.

As Mrs. Merrill was considered a social lion, the Kleinschmidts, it is said, did their utmost to retain her on their invitation list, but she refused to attend the gatherings. Whenever there was an event at the Kleinschmidt home Mrs. Merrill's name appeared on the printed list of guests, although she never was present at the functions. Finally she gave orders, it is reported, that her name should not be so used. Mrs. Merrill also withdrew her name from a card club, consisting of about eight members, which is said to have been organized by the Kleinschmidts.

"I was introduced to the Kleinschmidt girls about three weeks ago," said Mrs. Merrill yesterday. "We did not become intimate and soon I broke acquaintance with them. I was often invited to attend gatherings at their home but never went. I gave instructions that my name should not appear on the invitation list and withdrew it from a card club which was organized by the girls. I understand that there were many other girls who did the same."

George U. Cox, a mining man, residing at 2565 Claremont avenue, opposite the Kleinschmidt residence, believes that the family is being slandered. He has nothing but kindest words to say of them.

"They were the nicest people I ever met," said Cox yesterday. "The old gentleman was refined as well as the boys. Harry worked for me on one occasion and I always thought him a model young man."

Smelting Trust's New Move.

The story which comes from Los Angeles that the Smelter Trust and the Standard Oil Company, are organizing a combination to control the output of all of the productive mines in the southern Nevada mining camps is at least plausible. However, it should be read and considered with a strong mental reservation, for the story may have been given currency in order to influence the stock market. All of the Tonopah, Goldfield, Manhattan, Bullfrog and neighboring mining district stocks have been much depressed for several months, owing to well known causes, and anything that will stir them into activity again will be welcomed by those who make a business of speculating in such securities.

The American Smelting Company which consists of a combination between the Guggenheims and the magnates of the Standard Oil Company, controls all the customs smelters west of the Missouri river, and at present every mine in the Western States and Territories producing smelting ores and unequipped with its own smelter plant, must pay tribute to the combination, except such small mines as supply the Shasta county smelters with fluxing ores. In the case of these mines and smelters there is a mutuality of interest which is profitable to both and of such a character that one cannot pinch the other. But the American Smelting Company controls every essential production to the success of the monopoly.

Most of the mineral bearing belts throughout Nevada are smelting ore producers. This is particularly the case with the southern group of mining camps. They are not equipped with their own smelters. They, therefore, constitute an easy prey for the smelting trust. All the trust has to do is to raise the rates of customs smelting and the producing mines are at its complete mercy for as already stated there are no customs smelters west of the Missouri river over which the flag of the American Smelting Company does not fly.

According to the Los Angeles story this is just what the trust has done. Several days ago the announcement was sent out of Denver, the headquarters of the American Smelting Company, that Nevada ores would not be hereafter treated by it except by a stipulation that returns shall not be made for sixty days. Payments have been heretofore made on half the time, or immediately upon returns being received from the sampling works, the ore being in the latter case bought outright as sacked ready for shipment to the smelter. The stringency in the money market is given as the excuse. Besides, the rates for treating ores on customs account have been sharply advanced. The course of the Smelting Trust is cutting both ways into the profits of the Nevada mine owners and they have apparently no remedy unless they combine together to build smelters of their own in order to emancipate themselves from the monopoly's grip. The southern Nevada fields have been turning out approximately a million dollars a week and would probably under former conditions prevailing in the camps continue to turn out a corresponding amount, which shows the magnitude of the prize the Smelting Trust is working to grab.

Auto Scorching on County Roads.

Automobile scorching should be prohibited on the county roads as well as in the streets of the city on the grounds that it is a menace to life and limb. The Supervisors have found another reason for putting a stop to it. The practice is said to be doing enormous damage to the scenic boulevard and to the best and most heavily traveled roads throughout the county as the pounding of the rubber tires loosens the material used as a filler, displaces the macadam and ends in wrecking the surface of the roadway.

The greater number of the offending motorists are, of course, non-residents of the county visitors from across the bay, who have not contributed anything toward the construction of the county roads and who do not contribute a dollar toward keeping them in good order, but who come to this side of the bay in great droves every holiday to speed their machines. The effective work which the Supervisors have been doing on these roads at large cost to the county, is thus being destroyed by non-taxpayers. This class of pleasure-seekers, even if not Alameda county taxpayers are welcome to the use of its roads, provided they do not abuse their privileges. When they do the latter it is time to call a halt.

Alameda county has for a long time past enjoyed the reputation of having the best and smoothest macadamized roads to be found anywhere in the State. Their destruction cannot be witnessed with indifference. Drastic measures will have to be adopted in order to prevent that state of affairs. If auto scorching is the source of trouble the way to stop it is to put a reasonable speed limit on auto driving. The craze for high speeding needs curbing anyhow. There is no sense in driving an auto or any other road vehicle on a country road at a higher rate of speed than an express train which is being repeatedly done by those who have made a practice of bringing their machines across the bay for a day's outing. The Supervisors can no doubt be counted upon to enact an ordinance which will keep the speed down to a limit which will not imperil the safety of the motorists themselves or of others using the county roads for any legitimate purpose or do any damage to the macadamized road surface. Such an ordinance should impose a heavy minimum penalty on those violating it. With such an ordinance and its faithful enforcement by the constabulary present causes of complaint would soon disappear.

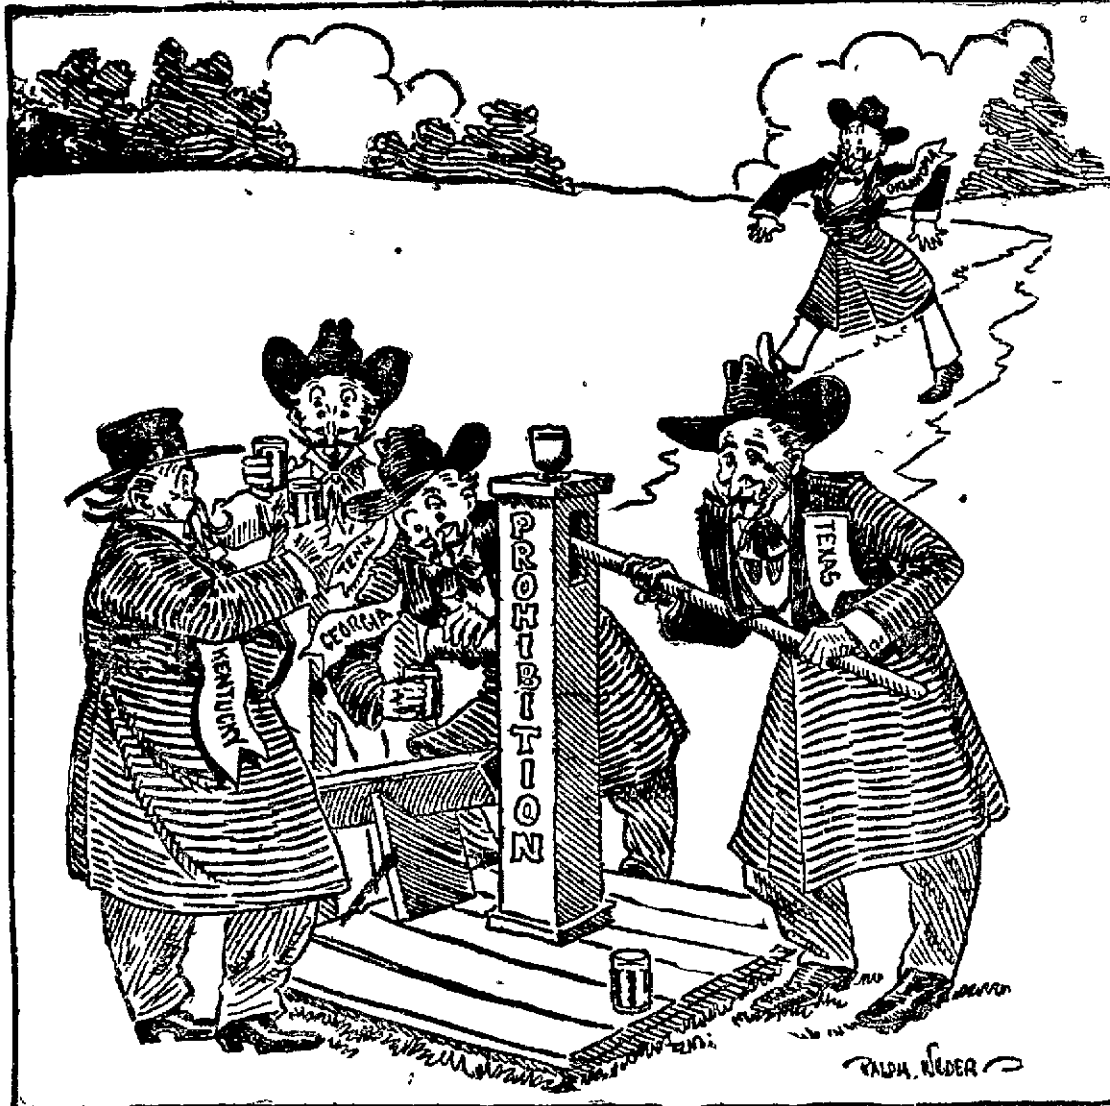

The San Bernardino Sun makes the remarkable claim that San Bernardino is now the banner citrus county in California. Riverside county formerly claimed the distinction but during the year ending October 31st San Bernardino's citrus output aggregated $8,132,935 in value against Riverside's total output of $5,312,376. San Bernardino county has developed the following citrus growing centers in a comparatively brief period: Highland, Rialto, Colton, Redlands, Ontario, Upland, Cucamonga and Etiwanda and others, which will greatly increase the county's citrus output in future years, are rapidly developing.

With commendable caution District Attorney Brown has announced his intention not to take any chances with the constitutionality of the holiday law exempting the courts from its operation. He will, therefore, prudently refrain from starting any case in the courts until the highest judicial authority has affirmed the constitutionality of the law. It would be the height of folly to take any risk which would put the interests of the county in jeopardy and furnish a loophole for any criminal to escape.

1701-18 WASHINGTON ST.

Naval Bureau's New Program.

The other day it was announced that the engineering and construction bureau of the navy had decided to take the initiative in the planning of new warships in the future. It is about time. It has been lagging behind heretofore like a sheep's tail. The plans of most of the warships we possess have been borrowed from abroad, not originated by the bureau as they should have been. The bureau has been so slow that the steam turbine has not yet been adopted in any vessel in the American navy although this effective engine has proved its worth in the British navy and established its superiority beyond question in the same nation's mercantile marine. It has even delayed the use of crude petroleum as an economical fuel in war vessels, although it has long since displaced coal in a large number of American merchantmen. And while the bureau is still undecided what to do in the matter, the British Admiralty has not only equipped some of its larger war vessels and the torpedo destroyer and torpedo boat flotilla with oil burning furnaces but it is building a fleet of tank carriers, to transport crude petroleum from the Texas oil fields and is erecting a belt of oil tank depots along the coast of the United Kingdom whence the little warships employed in the home defense fleet can replenish their fuel supply. The naval bureau chiefs should wake up.

The power of retrenchment has been effectively demonstrated by the recent action taken by the Supervisors to prevent a deficit in the county funds during the first half of the current year. The previously anticipated deficit in the general fund will not now occur.

CHIPS FROM OTHER BLOCKS.

That new $10 gold piece is having a hard time of it. First a howl was raised because the words "In God we Trust" were omitted from it, and now it is objected that owing to the high relief of the figure on each side it won't stack. That won't inconvenience us very much. We never get enough of the $10 gold pieces to stack—Fresno Sunday Mirror

Recent statistics prepared by experts in the various counties have so clearly demonstrated our lead, that San Bernardino county no longer has a rival. The figures look good. Our citrus output for the year ending October 31 was $8,132,935, of which $7,120,595 was for oranges and $1,062,340 for lemons. Riverside county, which formerly claimed to be the banner orange district of the world, has a total output of $5,312,376, of which $4,508,108 was for oranges and $804,268 for lemons—San Bernardino Sun

The tide of hobos from the north keeps up with undiminished vigor and there are anywhere from a dozen to a hundred in the 'jungles' just below town. There seems to be no question but that additional policemen are needed as the stealing of chickens and other depredations have followed the robbery of two stores a few nights ago—Exchange

The Fresno territory proposed to be annexed to Kings county forms only a part of what is now one Supervisorial district yet it is larger than the whole State of Rhode Island in area by over 100 square miles. If added to Kings this territory will have two Supervisors, whereas now they have but a part of one. In Kings county the people over there would have a two fifths representation in the county board while in Fresno they have but a percentage of one. In the published statement of A. B. Smith tax collector of Fresno county, the assessed valuation of the land in the territory proposed to be annexed was in 1906 7,434,040.56, while the total assessed value of Fresno county was $40,478,827—Hanford Sentinel

For more than 30 years it has been curing Female Complaints, such as Indigestion, and Ulceration, Pailing and Displacements, and consequent Spinal Weakness, Backache, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life.

Records show that it has cured more cases of Female Ills than any other one remedy known.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound dissolves and expels Tumors at an early stage of development, Dragging Sensations causing pain, weight, and headache are relieved and permanently cured by its use.

It corrects Irregularities or Painful Functions, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility also, Dismisses, Faintness, Extreme Lassitude, "Don't care and want to be left alone" feeling, Irritability, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Flatulency, Melancholia or the "Blues." These are sure indications of female weakness or some organic derangement.

For Kidney Complaints of either sex Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a most excellent remedy.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. for advice. She is the Mrs. Pinkham who has been advising sick women free of charge for more than twenty years, and before that she assisted her mother-in-law Lydia E. Pinkham in advising. Thus she is well qualified to guide sick women back to health. Her advice is free and always helpful.

TREMENDOUS VOTE CAST IN GREAT $10,000 PRIZE CONTEST

THE LEADERS CHANGE PLACES

Only a Few More Days in Which to Work for Prizes.

Yesterday was another day of heavy voting in the Great $10,000 Prize Contest of the OAKLAND TRIBUNE. The end of the contest is now so near that every candidate is anxious to be at the top of the class in the race for the few remaining days of the contest will be very hot and it will be only those who have the right kind of stuff that will stay at the contest until the end. A few may have become discouraged, but the candidates who are now in the race will make every day count.

Many more subscriptions will be secured by the candidates before the end of the contest, and you should be certain to get your share of them.

COUPONS IN PAPER.
The coupons that have been published in the OAKLAND TRIBUNE each must reach the contest manager by the night of the 28th. If received later than the 28th they will not be counted. The expiration date is printed on each coupon.

EFFORTS COUNT.
During this week a little effort enough votes can be secured to build up an almost impregnable reserve. Many of the contestants have given their assurance that their intentions are that of winning and are going to make the race of their lives during the remainder of the contest.

To not let your competitors get all the subscriptions pledged to them in your locality before you awake to the fact that those subscriptions are the ones you need to win the handsome prize of one of the other rich prizes.

Do your best during the next four days and until the close of the contest and the end will take care of itself.

SECURE VOTES.

Now that you have given all of your friends to subscribe to the OAKLAND TRIBUNE and give you the votes on their subscriptions, approach those whom you do not know so as to get your share of them. It will be a hard matter for them to refuse to subscribe for your benefit, if you properly present your case.

Get up all your courage and put it into good effect during the next four days of special balloting as this is the time when the contest will be made during the finishing days of the contest.

If you have not improved your chances and before the end of the contest, never again will this chance be given you to get up among the leaders.

MANNER OF VOTING.

A coupon that one of our subscribers has published in each issue of the OAKLAND TRIBUNE until the end of the contest. This coupon, if it is clipped and sent to the contest manager of the OAKLAND TRIBUNE, will count as one vote for the contestant named therein.

There is another and better way of securing votes and that is by subscriptions. Votes will be given on all paid-in-advance subscriptions as follows:

Three months, $1.35..... 100 extra votes
Six months, $2.50..... 300 extra votes
One year, $4.50..... 600 extra votes
Two years, $7.50..... 1,200 extra votes
Three years, $10.00..... 1,800 extra votes
Three hundred votes are also given for a classified advertisement. A coupon book which contains coupons worth $2.50, but sells for only $2.

CLASSIFIED AD COUPONS.
An innovation in voting contests is the feature of votes on classified advertisements. Each coupon book containing coupons to the value of $2.50 is sold for $2. This is a saving of 25 cents on each dollar, and will prove a great investment for those who advertise. Classified advertisements are as valuable as "Help Wanted" coupons, and are also sold for $2. These classified advertisement coupons can be used at the time the books are bought or at a later date as may be desired.

MINING MAN BURIED ALIVE

Shaft Caves and Superintendent
Lies Under 25 Feet of Rock.

GOLDFIELD, Nov. 26.—William Goodrich, superintendent of the Scully lease on the Sandstorm lode, buried under twenty-five feet of rock in the working shaft of the lease. The cave-in occurred late yesterday afternoon and word was dispatched to Goldfield for aid and a number of men immediately volunteered to assist in the rescue. Timbers and winches were loaded on a wagon and the rescuers are now at work, but with little hope of reaching Goodrich alive. Goodrich was in charge of the Consolidated lease on the Mohawk, in which he was heavily interested financially.

All cases of weak or lame back, backache, rheumatism, will find relief by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weave and Heladonna Backache Plasters. Price 25 cents. Try them.

PEOPLE'S PARTY SEEK CITY FOR CONVENTION

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 26.—The national convention of the People's Party met in conference at the St. James Hotel today for the ostensible purpose of fixing the time and place for holding the nominating convention of 1908.

About thirty were present when the conference was called to order by National Chairman James H. Ferris of Detroit. The conference will probably continue through tomorrow.

St. Louis, Kansas City, Cincinnati, Chicago and Indianapolis are in the field for the holding of the convention.

STAGE PLUNGES EUREKA MAYOR OVER GRADE IS THREATENED

Tree Falls Across Road Narrowly
Missing Vehicle and Frightening Team.

NAPA, Nov. 27.—As a stage running between Napa and Monticello was on its way to the latter place, and as the team was a long one, a steep grade on a mountain east of Napa, a large tree fell across the road just before the stage. The horses became frightened at the loud crash of the falling tree and began to rear. The driver of the stage, pulling the heavy stage, then them and attempting to go on the mountain side. The driver and passengers were thrown heavily to the ground, the driver being severely injured. It is feared the passengers also were injured. Fresh on the side of the mountain, the stage from being more serious and their escape from death from the falling tree was a narrow one.

STUDENT SHOT; TWO WOMEN UNDER ARREST

MYSTERIOUS TAKING OFF EXCITES POLICE

Fair Friends Are Taken Into Custody After Sudden Death of Caller.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—William said that Chandler had told her that D Chandler, an art student, appeared in his father's home in an oil cloth manufacturer in Maine had been shot himself to death yesterday while calling upon Mrs. William Dissinger, who had met the young man in Philadelphia two years ago.

Mrs. Dissinger told the police that she had lost Chandler for a few minutes when she heard a shot. She called her husband and they found the art student dead on the floor with a bullet wound in his head. A revolver was near by. Mrs. Dissinger said that she had taken into custody two women who were with the student at the time of his death.

MORE TROUBLE FACES PRINCE

Woman Declares Her Name Not Authorized on Bond.

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—The name of a woman is again in trouble. When she appeared in the courtroom today morning she was promptly taken into custody because of something of a suspicious nature which developed in connection with some of her bonds.

Judge Robinson yesterday received a letter from Mrs. Sarah J. Young of 1238 Eighth avenue, Berkeley, Cal., in which she claims that she owns the property at that address and she does not allow the name of her husband to go on the bonds of her name.

When Mrs. Young was arrested by the police, she was taken to the station and released on bond. The letter claimed to own the property at 1238 Eighth avenue, Berkeley, Cal.

Everything seemed all right about the transaction until the court received the letter from Mrs. Young.

Judge Robinson said that he was greatly shocked and surprised to see a name in the morning paper and to find it in the name of a woman who was not known to him.

It would seem that the woman who was arrested is the same woman who was arrested in the case of J. Young, who was arrested in the case of J. Young.

H. D. NORRIS FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL

Well-Known Berkeleyan Expires of Heart Failure While on Business in Stockton

BERKELEY, Nov. 27.—Henry D. Norris, a 24-year-old Berkeleyan, was found dead in a hotel in Stockton yesterday. He was found stretched across the bed in his room in the Yosemite hotel. Heart trouble is presumed to have been the cause of death.

Mr. Norris left Berkeley for Stockton last Friday. He was in connection with business of a lumber company in Stockton. He was found dead in his room in the Yosemite hotel.

The body was found by one of the hotel attendants who had been sent to the room to find out why Mr. Norris had not appeared for breakfast.

The coroner was notified and an examination was conducted. The physician who attended the deceased said that he had died of heart failure.

"Rejoice," Says Mayor Mott

Tomorrow as has been the almost continuous custom since Governor Carver of Plymouth and his little band of Pilgrims sat down with Chief Massasoit's friendly tribe of Indians to a great feast of Thanksgiving to God for the peace and prosperity that had crowned their mutual undertakings, the people of the United States will gather together in their homes and churches to give thanks for the many happy events of the year.

The people of no city in the United States have more to be thankful for than the good citizens of our own municipality. The preceding year has been marked by great prosperity coupled with an industrial peace that has done much to stimulate our growth. We have been spared from disaster and epidemic. Progress has been made in almost every line of endeavor and municipal improvements have kept pace with our commercial development. In brief we should rejoice in the fact that we are residents of one of the most healthful and progressive cities in the greatest State in the Union.

DEBTORS SEIZED RICH

ERIN SMITH, Nov. 27.—The difficulties that have surrounded between the King of the Belgians and his daughters have long been public knowledge and the debts of the Princess Louise of Cobourg the elder daughter (with both the King and the Queen) are no secret. She has been obliged to come in a very painful story. But it is the payment of these debts which has brought the Jew's souvenirs fans and the King of the Queen of the Belgians to the limit.

Credit is the Princess failing even in a law suit to oblige the King to pay the debts of the late Queen. The King, who has personal property was all the late Queen was able to leave her daughter and decided to sell them publicly in the ordinary way. It was said that he hoped that the King would avoid this sale. Leopold II. was not to be deterred to an action and he refused to purchase the jewels at the expert's valuation of $25,000. He did, however, with the exception of a few Brussels diamonds, sell privately to the late Emperor of Austria, for $100,000. But for this he has paid $10.

The late Emperor for sale included magnificent jewels of which the chief was a diamond-encrusted brilliant in the form of a crown. He was the time of the Queen's wedding anniversary.

There were also a bunch set with dia-

But it is true that race suicide and the divorce will be a complaint of the future with the increased cost of living and the more expensive standards of life. It is not so much the squeezing of living for small families or none at all. Starting from the faculty life, many of these with fifteen years would bring out something interesting on this point. I fancy that it is not so much the one who polishes shoes to me to be the significant one for the wife to take up teaching some occupation in order to keep the standard of living above what it may in one can pay would involve the side of course and the impoverishing of her life generally."

The vegetables and the other ingredients that usually are served at the Thanksgiving Day dinner are referred to in the housewife as "tell at a glance" at what hour a dinner should commence. Good information that is necessary for the expert is to be properly planned and served at the time.

Turkey 1 1/2 to 2 or 3 hours according to size.

Salmon about fifteen minutes to 1 pound.

Potatoes about thirty minutes.

Chicken about thirty minutes.

Swedish potatoes 15 to 20 minutes.

Green beans 1 hour to 1 hour and a half according to size.

Ok 15 to 20 minutes.

Squashes about 20 minutes.

If a green pepper is used the time required to cook the above articles will undoubtedly be a little less than he stated.

KAUFMAN RULES 10 TO 8 FAVORITE OVER SULLIVAN

Confidence on the Part of Both Boxers Insure Hot Mix-Up When Pair Meet in Ring.

BY EDDIE SMITH.

Judging from the present outlook of things it would seem that we are destined to have the weather tomorrow afternoon for the Sullivan-Kaufman contest. This fact is especially appreciated by Jimmy Coffroth, who has been somewhat perturbed over the chances of it raining.

With good weather the fighter should appear before a good crowd, as it is any kind of a bet that the contest will be a hot, fought one, full of sensational thrills, and what it may lack in clean cut boxing it will make up in excitement. Kaufman has been made a 10 to 8 favorite in the betting, which shows that the people of San Francisco still have faith in the big fellow's chances of reaching the top of the ladder.

It will, indeed, take a fighter who has a very good chance to get to the top, to beat the Sullivan Twin, for he is by no means easy to hit or easy to hurt when one does hit him. He is as game as ever a fighter was and his knowledge of the tricks of the game is second to none in the ring today.

Kaufman will carry the ring with his handicap of 30 or more pounds, which has no doubt been taken into consideration by the bettors, who realize that it is a handicap hard to overcome.

Sullivan, however, figures that if Jack O'Brien was successful in avoiding the big fellow's rushes and was able to keep the big fellow tied up in the clinches, he would also be able to do the same. Kaufman's friends, of course, argue that their man has improved greatly since that time and that he will be able not only to beat Sullivan with his added weight, but that he will, in a measure, out box him.

Sullivan and his training staff are positive in the declaration that so far as condition goes they will have no kick coming. "Jack has trained hard and faithfully for the contest and to me he looks like a clinch," is the opinion volunteered by George Gardner, who has acted as sparring partner for the Twin and who a short time ago fought Kaufman in Los Angeles.

If Gardner's word could be taken for anything, this would be the best line we could get on the outcome of the battle, for he has had a better opportunity of sizing up the man than any of the other boxers. The fact that George has been lured by Sullivan, however, is sufficient proof of the fact that George would be inclined to bet on the man he has been working with. Gardner has touted some of his close friends to bet on Sullivan, however, and this would seem that way down in his heart he has an idea that Sullivan will win.

Kaufman, for his part, does not seem to have any of the same doubts as to his own chances. He is confident that he has for any of his other fights, evidently realizing that he must be in the very perfection of his boxing condition to get at the clever Sullivan. Kaufman and Delaney arrived back in Oakland last evening, and are somewhat disappointed about not being able to give a public exhibition at the Reliance Athletic Club this afternoon.

The floor of the gymnasium had been prepared for the dance to be held there this evening, and it would be a dangerous thing for the big fellow to attempt to box on that kind of a floor.

Kaufman looks to be in great condition and with the experience that he has no doubt picked up from boxing with Denver Ed Martin, he should be able to give an excellent account of himself. At no time in the history of Kaufman's pugilistic career has he been so confident that this man will win.

Billy has always been very conservative about saying that Kaufman would win, and prior to most of his fights the veteran has contented himself with saying that his man had a good chance. In the contest of tomorrow, Billy has every confidence that his man will win and it would not be surprising to the writer if Delaney had a nice bet on his man's chances.

The one thing above all others that makes people like Kaufman is the fact that he is a calm, young fellow with a terrible punch, added to which he will have the handicap of the extra weight. Sullivan is of the opinion that Al is unable to take a beating in the body and his faith in victory lays in the hope that he will be able to land on the big fellow's mid-section with force enough to beat him down.

After considering a long list of prospective time-keepers for Kaufman, Delaney has chosen Jimmy Brennan, of this city, to hold the watch for the battle. The crowd going to the arena will leave the foot of Market street every fifteen minutes after 12 o'clock tomorrow.

Bob Ward and Jim Flynn, who are the first pair of scrappers to meet in the month of December; Johnny Fynte and Johnnie Murphy, the second pair, and Joe Thomas and Young Ketchel, the last pair, have all gone into training, and from now on will put in their time at their respective training quarters. Each of the contests look to the writer good and it can be expected by the fans that they will have an opportunity to witness three mighty good contests during the month of December.

Sonoma May Is Sold at Auction

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Auction of trotters in Madison Square Garden yesterday was marked by a good attendance and quite lively bidding. Among many horses sold were several from California. Sonoma May, 6 years old, a full sister to Sonoma Girl, practically untired, was sent by Arthur H. Brown of Napa. Millard Saunders told the crowd that the buyer would get another Sonoma Girl in this mare. General C. C. Watts became the purchaser, bidding $2100. Sonoma Dillon, 2 years old and a half-sister to Sonoma Girl, credited with fast trials at the Santa Rosa track, went to Charles Dean of Illinois for $225. Lottie Dillon, 2 1/2 1/4 another in the same lot was bought for $500 by Abe Carson. For the ten-year-old Nora McKimble, 2 1/2 1/4, bred by David Young of Stockton, H. C. Lee of Missouri gave $1200. This mare was sold for $12,500 in 1904.

Gunner Moir May Meet the Winner

A world of interest was added to the Al Kaufman-Jack (Twin) Sullivan fight, which is to be pulled off in Coffroth's Mission-street Park of the Pugs tomorrow afternoon, when it was learned last night that the winner of the heavy-weight championship of the world may grow out of the affair. Tomorrow's winner may be matched with the victor in the Gunner Moir-Tommy Burns scrap. In fact, should the Gunner prove a better man than Burns the mill is almost assured.

A day or so ago Promoter Jim Coffroth cabled both Burns and Moir, offering the lucky one of this pair a match with the winner of the turkey day mill. Up to date Thomas has not been heard from, but it is a good business man, Moir was quick to respond. His answer reads: "It would be a pleasure to meet winner of Kaufman-Sullivan fight." So the only thing necessary to clinch a bona fide championship heavy-weight mill now is to get the best he could and outstage Nappa. "I also have a willingness."

Kaufman blew into town last night looking as well as any truly hard worker in the mountains can make a man. The big German warrior is there with the healthy complexion and a hand-dog that almost sends one to his knees. Billy Delaney, who, of course, came down from the springs with Al, says that the boy was looking better physically than at present, and Billy should know. He's been in the game long enough.

Kaufman said: "I should win from Sullivan on a knock-out before the fifteenth round. I outmeasure him in nearly every direction and I feel strong enough to throw him over the ropes and suit those who barter with men. There is no place like the mountains to train." The big fellow announced that his rounds would be Billy Delaney, his friend, Gus Dor and Denver Ed Martin.

Other than a morning's morning jaunt along the Marin county roads, Twin Sullivan did no work, and he is a regular fellow about conditions. He is a regular on being in the best possible fix every time he trains for a fight.

The betting last night took a switch in favor of Kaufman and established that estimable young scrapper a 9 to 10 favorite in the betting. This price seemed to suit those who barter with men, and the game went along with a merry swing until closing time.

Tomorrow's program will go on as follows: Alf Wicks and Congo Congo start proceedings at precisely 1:30 p. m. Their preliminary is scheduled to go through immediately after the Boston bout Kaufman and Sullivan will enter the ring and will be sent on their way at 10 o'clock. Coffroth has a habit of pulling his house off on time, and it is safe to bet that not a moment will be wasted.

One of the car-service will be all to the races, only better. Besides the regular Mission-street line running direct to the arena, the promoter has arranged with the car company for a special service along the Valencia-street line, on which route cars will run from the ferry to the scrap stadium under four minutes headway. The same excellent system as before will get the fans back home in time to tear into the big truck.

Many interest is being displayed in the football game between the Century Club of East Oakland and the Reliance Club eleven at Recreation Park, Alameda, Thanksgiving Day.

The rivalry existing between the two teams should result in the hardest playing possible to the individual members of the organizations and the large number of enthusiasts that will undoubtedly be present should get their fill of the real old American game.

The kick-off will be promptly at 10:30 a. m., and after that the boys will keep things moving.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 27.—Willie Canole and Jack Lenton went to the rounds last night in as pretty a battle as two boys could put up. Canole got the decision, but the spectators did not generally approve it as many believed the fight should have been a draw.

The bout, though not the main one on the card at the Company G exhibition, proved so far ahead of the others that little interest was taken in them after it was over. The boys put up a great show and received a standing ovation.

Lennon opened strong in every round and seemed to be going toward the end and protecting himself, yet leading often. Canole sent in some singing blows to the face and ribs, but they did not seem to effect Lennon, who proved a glutton for punishment.

The main event, Jack Brown and Jack Lenton, at 150, was a good contest, both men showing cleverness. Referee Miller could only give a draw at the end. In the others Young Erin got the decision from Spider Roach, whom he outweighed about twenty pounds.

Tranglefoot McGovern and Young Ketchel put up a good scrap ending in a decision from McGovern, who looked as if he would have prefigured the fight stopping after the first round. Ketchel proved himself a shifty lad. In the special event Jim Ryan was substituted for Frank Smith and Tony Baroni put it all over him.

There was a good audience. The old car barn, where the fights were held last night, is to be fitted up and exhibitions will probably be given there regularly.

W. V. CONRAN MAY MANAGE STABLE OF J. G. THOMPSON

Former Trainer of Kerchival Is Considering Offer to Handle Goldfield Man's String.

BY LEE DEMIER.

It is reported that W. V. Conran, former trainer of Kerchival, will manage the stable of J. G. Thompson, a Goldfield, Nev., mining man, which will be raced at Arcadia this winter. Conran will also race Goldfield, which he owns at that track, having entered the Goldfield colt in a number of stakes.

Five races filled to the limit with an ordinary assortment of horseflesh, and a sprint for all ages, called the Pasadena Handicap, was the magnet which attracted a large attendance at Williams Park on Saturday afternoon. The good things created a keen betting interest and this fact, coupled with some changes, made it a good day for the bookies.

Jockey Miller, who placed three winners to victory, was handed a $100 fine for crossing in front of his field in the second race and now only running the chances of the other horses, but endangering the lives of other riders.

It was a nondescript bunch of horseflesh which paraded to the post in the opening race and naturally it bore a striking resemblance to the bunch that came out and the place scattered. Miller got rolling away in front and under a vigorous ride at the end, just making the wire. The latter with better luck would have scored. Rotroun hung on long enough to be there.

Marian Casey ran a different race today and was the victor in the Flying Stair, simply smothered her field with speed, and won as she pleased. Castle ran a good race and had enough left in his legs to determine the bid of John Swift. The latter had a rough trip and closed like a whirlwind when clear of interference.

Another bunch of old-timers lined up in the third race, and as in the two first races the choices were all winners. Jim Spot under the clever pilotage of Jockey Dugan, turned up the winner in this race. He was a real horse, and he was kept to the pace the while half a length ahead of the fast closing field. Jim Dugan, who was the victor in the final furlong and fell into the third hole. Jack Adams the choice, was pocketed all the way and never got clear sailing. This race does not go.

Even with Rapid Water out of it, the public could see nothing but the Hildreth entry to win the Pasadena Handicap and Meekel was sent to the post the 3 to 2 favorite. They were never in doubt as Miller got him away winging and the further they ran the further he got from his field. Jim Dugan, who had the best he could and outstaged Nappa. The winner stepped the five and one-half furlongs in 1:05. H. H. Stelman held on long enough to grab the show.

R. F. Carman's black gelding, Water-dog, who pounded the last and the large geld of three-year-olds in the fifth, with consummate ease, and had no trouble stalling off the final bid of Nappa. John H. Stelman held on long enough to grab the show.

St. Elmo's choice in the closing race, beat the gate by a city block and when called by Coma, had to be ridden to win. Ocean Shore closed resolutely and annexed six corners.

Turkula Aha Myer has developed into one of the shining lights of Fillmore street. Big Ed Henry (Yellow) and Pat O'Donnell (The Owl) are contemplating opening a home for "dislocated" turfites.

The crew that make up the Tokio Club are known among the "profess" as "Tape."

Jockey George Bullman, who was warned away from Spokane by Judges Mulholland and Layton, was put back in good standing again yesterday.

Ex-Jockey Tommy Murphy is in our midst.

So is Leslie Coggins.

Nine Spot developed into a jack pot after the race.

Jockey "Marvelous" Walter Miller was presented with $100 in the shape of a fine for cutting across with Marlon Casey in the second race yesterday.

Jockey Walter Miller rode three winners yesterday.

Billy Cross scattered $500 on Coma in the last race, getting 10 to 1 for his money. The Bedeck gelding was pounded the best, but was nipped out at the wire by Ginwood.

Before going to the races Thanksgiving Day get a copy of the racing edition of THE TRIBUNE.

The New York element showered the ring with stray money to capture the closing race. They never got a look-in.

Marian Casey was the good thing that was bet on.

Robert Davenport (Little Bob) mingled with the crowd at the track yesterday.

The Emeryville crowd went right back into their little hole after the California race.

Dr. Crook forgot his dope.

Ingism just needed that race.

Rose Elav is now being trained by ex-Jockey George Bullman.

MULE ACTS AS BURGLAR ALARM

Chicken Thief Chased Into Well and Kept There All Night by Animal.

NEW YORK.—John B. Holland, a fancy poultry raiser of West Caldwell, N. J., has a blue mule he calls Hiney. He paid $17 for him, and Hiney is a good mule. Hiney isn't particular, so the man who sold him for $17 said, and when Holland took Hiney home, having other place for him to sleep, he put him in the chicken-yard to keep his bulldog company.

Holland woke up yesterday with the sense of something unusual in the air. He went into the poultry yard, which had been robbed frequently of late. Toward the building, he stepped peacefully beside a piece of chloroformed meat. Hiney was in the yard, and Holland heard Hiney singing his morning song of "Hee! Hoo!" and he found the blue mule behind the barn, his eagle eye glued to the well curb by an imaginary dotted line that betokened great interest. The curb itself was demolished into kindling wood. Hiney seemed happy and alert. Holland approached cautiously and peered down the well hole. He heard splashing and then he saw a face.

CATCH THIEF.
"Why, Hank Spinner, you old chicken thief, what are you doing there?" cried Holland, and the thief, who was a young man, jumped double-jumped and ran up the well curb. "I'll come up," said Hank, for it was indeed he.

Holland persuaded Hiney to follow him out of the well. The mule, though Hiney gave many a look backward at the chicken thief in the old well. When Hiney was safely halted, Hank came out. He said that Hiney had caught him in the act of feeding Towser, a dog he had and that he had been in the well to take refuge in the old well. That happened at midnight, and Hiney held Hank until morning. Holland supplemented the booting Hiney, he mule, had given Hank, and Hank was mightily glad to get loose. Hiney can have anything he wants now, and you can't buy him for $17.

LITERARY FORGERIES DECEIVE SCHOLARS

"I could cheat a whole General Assembly of Antiquarians with my original manner of writing and forging ballads." The man who made this proud boast—Allan Cunningham—was a youthful scion of Scotland, earning $4 a week. That he was no idle braggart is evident from the fact that in his twenty-fifth year he perpetrated one of the greatest literary frauds of the nineteenth century.

Cunningham, in spite of his humble life in life could write poetry, the beauty and pathos of which would bring tears to the eyes of the reader. Apparently, however, he possessed a distinctive characteristic of many rogues of literature—to make experts look foolish, and when a Mr. Cromek, who, in 1829, was traveling in Scotland with a view to making a collection of genuine Scottish songs, asked Cunningham to assist him, the stonemason conceived the idea of writing ballads and passing them off on Cromek as old Scottish productions. These were included in a volume and although most of the critics detected the fraud, and it was established beyond doubt that Cunningham wrote the ballads himself, they acquired an immediate reputation and the genius of the writer led people to overlook the deception.

PRINCE OF FORGERS.

The prince of literary forgers, as regards quantity, also hails from France. This was Valentin Louis, the son of a peasant, who, after providing certain classes of people with more or less spurious pedigrees, perpetrated one of the most colossal literary frauds of the nineteenth century by successfully passing off 7,320 forged letters of ancient and eminent men to M. Chasles, a man of world-wide reputation as a geometrical astronomer, who paid Lucas, altogether nearly $2000 for the collection. Lucas' false letters included some from the Apocryphal, from Plato, Pliny, Lactantius and Mary Magdalene. And yet M. Chasles did not consider it extraordinary that these worthless wrote on paper and in the French language. Ultimately his eyes were opened and Lucas was arrested and sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

AN AUDACIOUS ONE.

Even more audacious, perhaps, was the attempt of an Irish boy named Rees, a resident of Bath, who, toward the close of the eighteenth century, claimed to have written "A Man of Feeling"—a work by Henry Mackenzie, often included in the popular reprints of today. Rees, in order to sustain his claim, actually transcribed the whole work, making the usual blunders, and additions, to give the manuscript a plausible appearance of originality. Curiously enough, although the publishers repudiated Rees' claim, the people of Bath evidently believed in him, for when he did a certain virtue, commenting upon the famous grave, he inscribed it with a stone, bearing the inscription "Henceforth this Man of Feeling lies," should be subscribed for.

FUND FOR RELIEF OF
MRS. BRANDT $809.50

Subscriptions for Widow of Heroic Fireman Keep Coming In.

The fund being raised by THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE for the benefit of the widow of Fireman Edward Brandt is steadily growing.

That the heroic action of Brandt, who gave up his life in the discharge of his duty, is appreciated by the residents of Oakland, is shown by the prompt response made to the appeal for relief of his widow, who was dependent upon him.

Oakland, Nov. 26, 1907.

EDITOR OAKLAND TRIBUNE: Enclosed herewith please find check No. 56 of the New California Jockey Club for $100. $6 cash from G. Mosbacher and $20 from the office employees of the Board of Public Works—all for the Edward Brandt fund, for which please acknowledge receipt.

Yours respectfully,
W. B. FAWCETT,
Secretary Board of Public Works

Thousands See Weston Finish Last Miles of Maine to Chicago Trip.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Edward Weston left the Chicago beach hotel, seven miles south of the business district, to walk to the postoffice, the end of the long journey at 9.32 a. m.

Weston reached reached Dryxel boulevard and Fifty-third street at 1:12 o'clock and struck out northward at a fast gait. The boulevard was packed with a cheering crowd all along his line of march and the pedestrian was attended by a noisy following. For the walk down town Weston had discarded his dusty garb, worn during the rough journey, and wore a new blue suit, polished shoes, new black gloves, a black felt hat and white gloves.

MANY ATTEND WESTON.

The rest of the distance was from the boulevard to the federal building at Jackson boulevard and Dearborn street. Weston was preceded by Alderman Badenoch, who carried a banner of the Illinois Athletic Club inscribed "Welcome to Weston." Then came a line of twelve policemen. Weston followed jauntily. He was followed by automobiles containing Weston's judges and members of the Illinois Athletic Club reception committee, headed by President William Hale Thompson. From the front row of policemen to the automobiles extended ropes forming a hollow square. In the center of which Weston walked. Chief of Police Shipley and Fire Marshal Moran walked beside Weston part of the distance. They were joined by the aged walked about their ability to keep the pace and were kept quite busy pointing out objects of interest.

93 MILES IN 1 DAY.

Weston left Portland, Maine, on October 29 at 3 p. m. and if he completed his walk on schedule time he will have then been twenty-eight days and seventeen hours on the road. Deducting the four Sundays, on which he did not walk, the actual time required in covering the 93 miles was twenty-four days and seventeen hours. His longest day's walk on the present trip was 95.3-10 miles, while on the former journey the best day's journey was only 82.

Improvement Association of East Oakland Appoints Committees to Rush New Work.

Concentrating itself into an active committee of five and a committee of seven, the first from the club and the second from the manufacturers of Session's Basin in East Oakland, the meeting of the Improvement Association of Greater East Oakland, held last night in Washington Hall at Sixth avenue and East Twelfth street, got down to business and it is anticipated that the much needed improvements at the south end of East Oakland will be soon forthcoming. When President Holmes called the meeting to order last night there was a filled hall of interested property owners and manufacturers present. The meeting had been called for the benefit of those engaged in industries on the water front.

Councilman G. E. Aitken explained the object of the special manufacturers' meeting and outlined the program of improvement which he hoped, with the assistance of the club and manufacturers to carry out for them.

Following the remarks of the councilman short addresses were made by R. J. Brown of the Oakland Sash and Door Company, J. C. Hamilton of the Cleum-Hamilton Lumber Company, Frederick J. White of the White Ornamental Iron Company, J. C. Odden of the Pacific Lumber Company, President Holmes and the delegates present from the district clubs.

The president appointed the following committee to meet with the manufacturers Sunday morning: President Holmes, chairman; Henry Vogt, Dan Adamson, Mr. Woodworth and Henry J. Rogers. The two joint committees will Monday night wait on the City Council with their petition for the opening of the avenues to the railway tracks.

SWEDEN MINISTERS ARE EXPECTED TO RESIGN

An outcome of the discussion in the cabinet arising from Sweden's failure to become a signatory to the treaty assuring the integrity of Norway. Foreign Minister E. R. Troll, War Minister Colonel L. Lingsaen and Minister of the Interior Juhlin are expected to tender their resignations at the cabinet meeting to be held Friday.

Former Secretary Says Western Bankers Have No Love for Eastern.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Former Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw, president of the Carnegie Trust Company, returned to New York yesterday from Chicago, where he conferred with many bankers regarding the financial situation. In discussing conditions he said:

"The West has lost confidence in the East. It will cost us here millions of dollars before we regain prestige and cordial relationship of the past."

"The bankers of Western cities have no love for the bankers of New York. They placed their money on deposit here, but when they asked for it they were refused. They say New York sought to protect only itself and tied up everything so that all the rest of the country was forced to adopt urgent measures to save itself."

MEAT PRICES WILL FALL SAY PACKERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Local packers believe the reports from Chicago and St. Louis that there will soon be a reduction in the price of meat, in the less choice grades.

Prince Rechad, heir to the Turkish throne, has been the victim of a system of bribery of which history offers few instances. For thirty years he has been virtually a prisoner in his own palace.

SAYS SHE STOLE
FROM FATHER

Youth States Girl Robbed Her Home and Gave Him the Plunder to Sell.

SAN JOSE, Nov. 27.—Charles Jacobus, 19 years old, arrested yesterday on a charge of robbing the home of A. T. de Rume at 7 Clinton place, this city, places the blame for the robbery on de Rume's daughter, Blanche.

At the city jail Jacobus at first refused to make any statement regarding the alleged theft and sale of the property, but when convinced by the officers that they had secured a chain of evidence that would convict him, he stated that the stolen goods, consisting of several gems, had been taken by Blanche de Rume, and that she had given the loot to him to sell. The police are inclined to believe his story.

CAVE-IN NEARLY COSTS WORKING MAN HIS LIFE

William Crawford, a laborer, was buried in a cave-in in a trench at Fourteenth street and Broadway yesterday afternoon and was rescued by his fellow workman, Elmer Johnson, after a strenuous effort. Crawford was at the bottom of the pit when a mass of earth and sent it rolling on Crawford. Johnson came to his rescue with his pick and shovel and after several minutes of hard work unearched him. The men were leaving pieces for the Oakland Gas, Light and Heat Company Crawford, some the worse for his experience, walked home after his close call by death.
